

United Way of Western Connecticut & Western Connecticut State University present:

Community Forum: Recovery and Resilience after the Sandy Hook Tragedy

Wednesday, September 27, 2013

7:00 p.m.

Western Connecticut State University
Midtown Campus, Ives Concert Hall

181 White Street, Danbury

7:00 p.m.

Free and open to the public

Featuring

Frank De Angelis, Principal Columbine High School

Mr. DeAngelis began teaching at Columbine High School in 1979. He was named principal in 1996 and was at the school during the 1999 shooting. Mr. DeAngelis helped direct the school community's recovery and continues to lead Columbine High School.

Mary Fetchet, Founding Director VOICES of September 11th Mother of Brad (24)

A professional social worker and former educator, Ms. Fetchet co-founded the 9/11 advocacy organization following the death of her son, Brad, in the World Trade Center attacks. VOICES was created to address the ongoing needs of 9/11 families, rescue workers and survivors and promote awareness of terrorism prevention, preparedness and response.

Jamie M. Howard, Ph.D. Clinical Psychologist & Director Stress and Resilience Program Child Mind Institute

Dr. Howard specializes in the evaluation and treatment of anxiety and mood disorders in children and adolescents. Her expertise in treating post-traumatic stress and adjustment disorders across the lifespan is a product of dedication to the most current and effective interventions, combined with her passion for helping children and families adjust to difficult and unexpected life experiences.

Chaplain Greg Young Germantown, WI Police Department

Rev. Young is a chaplain and trainer for the FBI in Wisconsin, and a chaplain and debriefer for the Germantown, WI Police Department. Rev. Young responded to the August 2012 Sikh Temple shooting.

Forum will be webcast live over
Livestream.com

Presented by:

Thank you to our lead sponsors!

And generous support provided by:

DANBURY FAIR

